LETTER FROM THE EDITOR:

My goodness, I can't believe we're in August already. Things are really opening up. So good to see the hairdressers are once again cutting and doing all their magic on all of us who, some of whom, looked like they came out of a horror show. Hahaha. I am one of the lucky ones that now again has her "locks" short and curly instead of looking like the hind end of a mule. Enough said. I hope you have all survived and are still looking to the bright side. If we can bring a smile to your lips and a warmth to your heart through out wee paper, then we have again succeeded for another month.

This month will mark a huge birthday for me. I was never one to be afraid of getting old...just wanted to remain young in spirit which I have succeeded in doing. I have been blessed with many talents, one of which is laughter and a desire to leave every-one with a smile in their hearts.

This paper and Ms. Klara have so helped me fulfill many of my dreams along with my music. In having said all of this. Thank you for all of your support in the past and present. Have a great day! Liz

Human Mysteries

The human body is a treasure trove of mysteries, one that still confounds doctors and scientists about the details of its working. It's not an overstatement to say that every part of your body is a miracle. Here are forty facts about your body, some of which will leave you stunned.

1. It's possible for your body to survive without a surprisingly large fraction of its internal organs. Even if you lose your stomach, your spleen, 75% of your liver, 80% of your intestines, one kidney, one lung, and virtually every organ from your pelvic and groin area, you wouldn't be very healthy, but you would live.

2. During your lifetime, you will produce enough saliva to fill two swimming pools. Actually, saliva is more important than you realize. If your saliva cannot dissolve something, you cannot taste it.

3. The largest cell in the human body is the female egg and the smallest is the male sperm.

The egg is actually the only cell in the body that is visible to the naked eye.

4. The strongest muscle in the human body is the tongue and the hardest bone is the jawbone.

5. Human feet have 52 bones, accounting for one quarter of all the human body's bones.

6. Feet have 500,000 sweat glands and can produce more than a pint of sweat a day.

7. The acid in your stomach is strong enough to dissolve razor blades. The reason it doesn't eat away at your stomach is that the cells of your stomach wall renew themselves so frequently that you get a new stomach lining every three to four days.

8. The human lungs contain approximately 2,400 kilometers (1,500 MI) of airways and 300 to 500 million hollow cavities, having a total surface area of about 70 square meters, roughly the same area as one side of a tennis court. Furthermore, if all of the capillaries that surround the lung cavities were unwound and laid end to end, they would extend for about 992 kilometers. Also, your left lung is smaller than your right lung to make room for your heart.

9. Sneezes regularly exceed 100 mph, while coughs clock in at about 60 mph.

Fake

Fingernails

To all my gal friends, who want fake fingernails – this is a warning. I had to go to a 50th birthday party for Pheenie McQuigan, one of my dearest friends. Now Pheenie, I must tell you, is nothing like me and what I mean is, she has always lived in the big city, while I have mostly lived in the original homestead that my great grand-daddy built, just in front of the old barn that houses our dear farm animals.

Pheenie has always made it a point to get her manicures and pedicures, while the only cure I could manage was to get me a huge dose of Buckle eye's cough syrup, so I could help Clem with the chores.

So, now folks, you know why I decided that I had better get pretty gussied up for this party. I really did need one of those extreme makeovers that I see on TV. The first thing I needed to do was to have one of those manicure things.

When I got to the nail shop, I noticed that people in there had masks on, and were buzzing away on people's fingers with what looked like a drill. I was sure I had the wrong place and was about ready to bolt, when a man asked my name. When I told him and said I was just in for a nail job, he sat me down in a chair and the gal on the other side, after looking again at my hand, told me there wasn't much they could do, other than glue some false fingernails on.

I strutted out of there admiring my finished nails and headed towards my truck. I had never seen such beauty. I realized my keys were somewhere in my purse, and proceeded to dig them out. Now folks, when you're used to stubby fingernails and now you have prongs at the end of your fingers, you have no idea how hard it is to do anything. After chipping some of my new polish and design off, I reached my keys, jumped in my truck and away we went home.

I was driving into the our lane, when I noticed a blank spot on one of my nails. The new nail was nowhere to be found! After a frantic no-luck search, I ran into the house to call that salon again and get it fixed. As I went to get my jacket off, I noticed my disappeared nail hanging from the jacket shoulder by a wee thread. I yanked on the handle of the cupboard drawer, to get some of that crazy glue stuff, when another nail went flying through the air. Holy cow, what the heck, (really the language was much stronger) I thought as I raced after it and caught it before it landed in my apple pie.

The next thing was getting dressed. I gingerly put on my Sunday meeting dress. I had to take that off, because I couldn't manage the darn buttons. Now I didn't have a choice, I had to put on my purple sundress and red cardigan (saved for the Red Hat occasions). I couldn't put on my face as those nails just wouldn't hold that darn tube of lipstick, or spread the brown makeup around enough to hide my wrinkles. So off I went.

When I finally arrived at the party and was seated, one of the guests was giving a speech. It was sort of boring, so I rested my head on my hand. I noticed people were staring somewhat and saw that one of my nails was pointed in an odd direction, having come loose I guess from the weight of my head. I quickly pressed it back in place.

Soup was served in fancy bowls, and when I went to push a piece of my straggling hair back into place, one of those darn nails caught, zoomed and plunked itself into the soup of the man across the table. When I went to help him get it out, he pushed my hand aside, those long prongs caught the side of a candle and sent it flying and without some quick thinking on Pheenie's part, might have burned the table away. I left.

I guess, if there was a lesson here to be learned it would be, glue those boogers down solid like before you do anything else, or just be yourself. Klara

Human Mysteries

10. Your body gives off enough heat in 30 minutes to bring half a gallon of water to a boil.

11. Your body has enough iron in it to make a nail 3 inches long.

12. Earwax production is necessary for good ear health. It protects the delicate inner ear from bacteria, fungus, dirt and even insects. It also cleans and lubricates the ear canal.

13. Everyone has a unique smell, except for identical twins, who smell the same.

14. Your teeth start growing 6 months before you are born. This is why one out of every 2,000 newborn infants has a tooth when they are born.

15. A baby's head is one-quarter of its total length, but by the age of 25 will only be one-eighth of its total length. This is because people's heads grow at a much slower rate than the rest of their bodies.

16. Babies are born with 300 bones, but by adulthood the number is reduced to 206. Some of the bones, like skull bones, get fused into each other, bringing down the total number.

17. It's not possible to tickle yourself. This is because when you attempt to tickle yourself you are totally aware of the exact time and manner in which the tickling will occur, unlike when someone else tickles you.

18. Less than one third of the human race has 20-20 vision. This means that two out of three people cannot see perfectly.

19. Your nose can remember 50,000 different scents. But if you are a woman, you are a better smeller than men, and will remain a better smeller throughout your life.

20. The human body is estimated to have 60,000 miles of blood vessels.

21. The three things pregnant women dream most of during their first trimester are frogs, worms and potted plants. Scientists have no idea why this is so, but attribute it to the growing imbalance of hormones in the body during pregnancy.

22. The life span of a human hair is 3 to 7 years on average. Every day the average person loses 60-100 strands of hair. But don't worry, you must lose over 50% of your scalp hairs before it is apparent to anyone.

23. The human brain cell can hold 5 times as much information as an encyclopedia. Your brain uses 20% of the oxygen that enters your bloodstream, and is itself made up of 80% water. Though it interprets pain signals from the rest of the body, the brain itself cannot feel pain.

24. The tooth is the only part of the human body that can't repair itself.

25. Your eyes are always the same size from birth but your nose and ears never stop growing.

26. By 60 years of age, 60% of men and 40% of women will snore.

27. We are about 1 cm taller in the morning than in the evening, because during normal activities during the day, the cartilage in our knees and other areas slowly compresses.

28. The brain operates on the same amount of power as 10-watt light bulb, even while you are sleeping. In fact, the brain is much more active at night than during the day.

29. Nerve impulses to and from the brain travel as fast as 170 miles per hour. Neurons continue to grow throughout human life. Information travels at different speeds within different types of neurons.

30. It is a fact that people who dream more often and more vividly, on an average have a higher Intelligence Quotient.

31. The fastest growing nail is on the middle finger.

32. Facial hair grows faster than any other hair on the body. This is true for men as well as women.

33. There are as many hairs per square inch on your body as a chimpanzee.

34. A human fetus acquires fingerprints at the age of three months.

35. By the age of 60, most people will have lost about half their taste buds.

36. About 32 million bacteria call every inch of your skin home. But don't worry, a majority of these are harmless or even helpful bacteria.

37. The colder the room you sleep in, the higher the chances are that you'll have a bad dream.

38. Human lips have a reddish color because of the great concentration of tiny capillaries just below the skin.

39. Three hundred million cells die in the human body every minute.

40. Like fingerprints, every individual has a unique tongue print that can be used for identification.

Woman is incomplete until she is married. Then she is finished.

A man asked an American Indian what was his wife's name. He replied, "She is called Five Horses".
The man said, "That's an unusual name for a wife. What does it mean?"

The Old Indian answered, "It old Indian name. It mean ..."

Believe It or Not

After stopping for drinks at an illegal bar, a Zimbabwean bus driver found that the 20 mental patients he was supposed to be transporting from Harare to Bulawayo had escaped. Not wanting to admit his incompetence, the driver went to a nearby bus stop and offered everyone waiting there a free ride. He then delivered the passengers to the mental hospital, telling the staff that the patients were very excitable and prone to bizarre fantasies. The deception wasn't discovered for 3 days.

Seems an Arkansas guy wanted some beer pretty badly. He decided that he'd just throw a cinder block through a liquor store window, grab some booze, and run. So he lifted the cinder block and heaved it over his head at the window. The cinder block bounced back and hit the would-be thief on the head, knocking him unconscious. The liquor store window was made of Plexiglas. The whole event was caught on videotape.

When a man attempted to siphon gasoline from a motor home parked on a Seattle street, he got much more than he bargained for. Police arrived at the scene to find a very sick man curled up next to a motor home near spilled sewage. A police spokesman said that the man admitted to trying to steal gasoline and plugged his siphon hose into the motor home's sewage tank by mistake. The owner of the vehicle declined to press charges saying that it was the best laugh he'd ever had.

The Ann Arbor News crime column reported that a man walked into a Burger King in Ypsilanti, Michigan, at 5am, flashed a gun, and demanded cash. The clerk turned him down because he said he couldn't open the cash register without a food order. When the man ordered onion rings, the clerk said they weren't available for breakfast. The man, frustrated, walked away. (* A 5-star stupidity award winner.)

Does Your Hubby Know Your Care?

A group of women were at a seminar on "How to live in a loving relationship with your husband."

The women were asked, "How many of you love your husband?"

All the women raised their hands.

Then they were asked, "When was the last time you told your husband you loved him?"

Some women answered today, some yesterday, some couldn't remember.

The women were then told to take out their cell phones and text their husband: "I love you, sweetheart."

The women were then told to exchange phones and to read aloud the text message responses.

Here are some of the replies:

1. Who is this?
2. Eh, mother of my children, are you sick?
3. I love you too.
4. What now? Did you crash the car again?
5. I don't understand what you mean?
6. What did you do now?
7. ?!?
8. Don't beat about the bush, just tell me how much you need?
9. Am I dreaming?
10. If you don't tell me who this message is actually for, someone will die.
11. I thought we agreed we would not drink during the day.
12. Your mother is coming to stay, isn't she??

Sweetest of Apples

Women are like apples on trees. The best ones are at the top of the tree. Most men don't want to reach for the good ones because they are afraid of falling and getting hurt. Instead, they sometimes take the apples from the ground that aren't good, but are easy.

The apples at the top think something is wrong with them, when in reality they're amazing. They just have to wait for the right man to come along, the one who is brave enough climb all the way to the top of the tree.

Now men...men are like fine wine. They begin as grapes and it's up to the women to stomp the heck out of them until they turn into something acceptable to have dinner with.

Oliver's Tips

- 1 To keep potatoes from budding, place an apple in the bag with the potatoes.
- 2 When a cake recipe calls for flouring the baking pan, use a bit of the dry cake mix instead and there won't be any white mess on the outside of the cake.
- 3 If you accidentally over-salt a dish while it's still cooking, drop in a peeled potato and it will absorb the excess salt for an instant "fix-me-up."
- 4 Wrap celery in aluminum foil when putting in the refrigerator and it will keep for weeks.
- 5 Cure for headaches: take a lime, cut it in half and rub it on your forehead. The throbbing will go away.
- 6 If you have a problem opening jars, try using latex dishwashing gloves. They give a non-slip grip that makes opening jars easy.
- 7 Don't throw out all that leftover wine, freeze into ice cubes for future use in casseroles and sauces.
